The Harrington Foundation Announces 2007- 2008 Scholarship Winners

Adel, Iowa, May 15th, 2008 – The Harrington Foundation today announced the award recipients of its 2007-2008 Harrington Foundation Scholarship program. The Foundation, which was established in 2005 to enhance quality of living, and promote education and the advancement of career development, exploration, and planning for all ages worldwide, began this annual scholarship program to recognize and reward outstanding academic achievement and to support the pursuit of postsecondary education and career plans. In the past three years, nearly 70 scholarships have been awarded to students across the country worth close to $30,000.

“We are thrilled to award this year’s scholarships to these dedicated and outstanding students,” said Len Harrington, President, The Harrington Foundation. “Our award winners were selected out of an exceptional pool of applicants and we are encouraged to see so many of today’s youth actively engaged in planning for their education, as well as their future career. We applaud these bright young people and wish them every future success,” said Harrington.

For the 2007-2008 academic awards, the Foundation received nearly 1,000 applications from students across the country. Eligible students must be a senior in high school and accepted for admission to a full-time undergraduate course of study at an accredited U.S. two-or four-year college or university. Selection criteria included academic performance, a student essay, a one-page resumé, and a postsecondary letter of acceptance. The Foundation is pleased to award three national and 13 statewide scholarships, totaling close to $10,000, to the following students:

- Corie Wilson – Brewbaker Technology Magnet, Montgomery, Alabama
- Natasha Tan – Many Farms High School, Many Farms, Arizona
- Katie Wells – Southland Christian School, Valdosta, Georgia

-- more --
